

Erie Aviation at the Aircraft Interiors Expo

For the 7th time Erie Aviation had a stand at the AIX in Hamburg, and we shared it with our sister company Green Sky Textiles. As in 2008 and 2009, we were part of the Hanse Pavillion, which took up about a third of Hall B6 at the great new exhibition center in Hamburg. The Hanse Pavillion is set up by Hanse Aerospace, a German trade association that Erie Aviation is a member of.

The show gave us an opportunity to meet current and potential customers from all over the world, and it was also a great place to meet with our suppliers, and also see what they and their competitors are bringing to market. See and be seen!

Our booth was busy, not the least because of the startling carpet created for the booth by Laurent Dubois of Green Sky Textiles. It showed an aerial view of a section of downtown Chicago, so stepping into our booth was like stepping into thin air – and it really showed off what can be done with the Green Sky carpet technology.

At the right the co-founder of our supplier Innovint meets with our stand hostess on top of Chicago, and below, left to right, are Harald Aamodt from Erie Aviation and Tad Jakes and Brian Peterman from Green Sky Textiles. The wall decorations are also Green Sky carpets, in designs that are virtually impossible to create in a woven carpet.

We'll be back in 2011!
